

12-08 Book Launch...

“Lost in Urbanization? Go to Strategic City!”

The most recent and comprehensive book about global urbanization, launched at the 2008 World Urban Forum in Nanjing

“Strategic City is the achievement of a three years worldwide urban research and development programme, gathering uniquely original contributions from high level practitioners, research institutes, and political leaders from Europe and the Americas, from Africa and Asia.

Strategic City has been published thanks to the strong support of the French Ministry for Ecology, Energy, Sustainable Development, and Planning (MEEDDAT), of the Urban Development Institute ISTED, of the urban development professionals association AdP, and of DEXIA.

Introduction by Jean-Paul HUCHON, President of Metropolis and President of the Paris Ile de France Region. Preface by Axel MILLER, DEXIA CEO. Foreword by Paul TAYLOR, UN-Habitat, Chief of the Office of the Executive Director, Anna Tibaijuka.

Take immediate action for a global Urban Renaissance with UN-Habitat and leading practitioners and researchers from around the globe

Meet with cutting edge innovative thinking, action and policymaking strategies: global urban growth, the urbanisation of poverty, shrinking cities, Vancouver and the rebirth of North American cities, urban architectonics in Japan, Baukultur in Germany, citizenship and urban development in Indonesia, housing challenges and heritage in African and Latin American cities, global economy and glamorous planning, urban development education and policies in contemporary China...

Learn more about the governance of urban challenges and the role of: citizens, governments, think tanks, urban research and development, innovative professional networks such as the Global Planners Network (GPN)...

Understand how planning of the twenty-first century is emerging, in a world of threats and sustainability needs.

“Books about cities are countless. One deals with the “urban condition”, another with the “franchised city”, yet another describes the sombre world of the “post-modern city”, and others besides describe an “endless city.”

The only problem is that for most authors, cities always seem to be the outcome of factors external to their development, to such an extent that we have forgotten that it is possible to actually create, build and develop and change cities.”

Nicolas Buchoud

Main Partners and Supporters, with special thanks to ISTED

Strategic City. Planners for the XX1st Century

by Nicolas BUCHOUD (dir.) / 270p,
CERTU, Lyon, 2008

TABLE of CONTENTS and CONTRIBUTORS

Preface

Looking for new Ways to Finance and Build Cities, by Axel MILLER, CEO, Dexia

Foreword

Cities, It is Worth Taking up the Challenge, by Paul TAYLOR, Chief of the Office of the Executive Director of UN-Habitat / Kenya

Introduction

International Cooperation in the Global Era. From Paris to Sydney, When Cities and Regions are at the Heart of Change, by Jean-Paul HUCHON, President of metropolis, President of the Paris Ile-de-France Region / France

Part I. Lost in Urbanization

1. Four Thousand Dwellings an Hour, by Nicolas BUCHOUD

2. Trading Territoriality and the Cry of Culture. Spatial Development Trends in Bali, by Gusti Ayu Made SUARTIKA, Senior Researcher, Udayana University, Bali / Indonesia

3. Safeguarding Heritage or Developing Housing? Some Ideas to be Explored around the Mediterranean, by Messaoud ABBAOUI, Nourredine AZIZI, Lecturers, departments of architecture at the University Fehrat Abbas of Setif / Algeria

4. Colonial Heritage, Cities and Citizenship in the Carribean and South America, by Nicolas REY, Anthropologist, Lecturer, University of Guadalajara / Mexico

Part II. Towards an Urban Renaissance

5. A Question of Generations? Rethinking the Origins of Urban Renewal Policies, by Thibault TELLIER, Historian, Lecturer, University of Lille 3 Charles de Gaulle / France

6. Leipzig-Grünau From Urban Renewal to Baukultur, by Nicolas BUCHOUD

7. A New Approach to Urban Renewal: Shrinking Cities, by Estelle DUCOM, Lecturer, University of Paris 4 La Sorbonne / France

8. Development of Technologies for Activation and Renewal of Building Stocks in Megalopolis, Lessons from a Workshop in Tokyo; by Tohru YOSHIKAWA, Assistant Professor, Tokyo Metropolitan University / Japan

9. Housing Remodeling in Japan, or Universal Design as a Theme for Planners, by Christine VENDREDI-AUZANEAU, Keio University of Tokyo / Japan and Department of Design Studies, CNRS / France

10. Cities without Buchanan and without Rem Koolhaas: Spatial Disparity, Policy and Strategic Urban Design towards and Open Urbanism, by Alain CHIARADIA, Architect and Planner. Managing Director, Space Syntax Ltd, Associate Researcher, University College of London / UK

11. Glamour Planning, Designing Metropolis Beyond Urban Marketing, by Nicolas DOUAY, Researcher, University Paris-Diderot-CEFC / Hong-Kong, and Irène DUASO-CALES, Planner, Madrid / Spain

Main Partners and Supporters, with special thanks to ISTEED

ISTED

ile de France
METROPOLIS

...TABLE of CONTENTS and CONTRIBUTORS

Part III. Planners for the Twenty
First Century

12. *The Vancouver Theorem, the Exemplary Renewal of North American
Cities, by Nicolas BUCHOUD

13. *A Global Education for Planners in the 21st Century, by Reyna ALORRO, Project
Manager, Greater New York City Area,
Department of Housing and Heritage
Planning / USA

14. Planners for Tomorrow's China, by
Yue FAN, Dr Eng, Professor, Deputy Director and Jian SUO, Associate
Professor, School of Architecture and Fine
Arts, Dalian National University of Technology / China

15. *Architectural Actions in Modern Society and the Principle of an
"Architectural Technology" System, by
Seiichi FUKAO, Professor, Tokyo
Metropolitan University / Japan

16. *Reinventing Planning, a New Governance Paradigm for Managing
Human Settlements, by Global Planners
Network (GPN)

17. *Planning Spatially Harmonious Cities:
Challenges and Responses, Towards
Nanjing, by Cliff HAGUE, Professor,
Herriot Watt University of Scotland,
General Secretary, Commonwealth
Association of Planners / UK

Conclusion

Strategic City, Willingness to move forward, by Nicolas BUCHOUD and Christine PLATT, President of the Commonwealth Association of Planners /
South Africa

Outlook

When Planning Meets the Real World:
Managing Globalization at Local Levels, by Jean Claude BOUCHERAT President of the Economic and Social Council of the Paris
Ile-de-France Region

Documents

World Planners Congress: The Vancouver
Declaration, 2006

The Durban Declaration establishing an African Planning Association, 2002

TO ORDER Strategic City

For any question or order :

Nicolas Buchoud / nbuchoud@yahoo.fr

To order directly to the editor, CERTU (public price):

CERTU

Service des commandes

9, rue Juliette Récamier

F-69006 LYON

FRANCE

CERTU online :

http://www.certu.fr/catalogue/Urbanisme_et_habitat-

Planification_strategique_et_urbaine/c1_261/p21_51/LA_VILLE_STRATEGIQUE/product_info.html

From the same author

Les dynamiques de la rénovation urbaine /
Enacting urban renewal in France

N.Buchoud (dir)

CERTU, 2005

Ces Banlieues qui nous font peur. Une stratégie d'action pour transformer la gestion des quartiers d'habitat social.

N.Buchoud / G.Lançon

L'Harmattan, 2003

Main Partners and Supporters, with special thanks to ISTED

About the author...

Nicolas BUCHOUD, 33, chartered urban planner, currently serves as Senior policy advisor at the Office of the President of Paris Ile-de-France Region. He advises the President in the field of strategic, regional and metropolitan planning (SDRIF) and the implementation of regional urban development policies and projects.

He has published and directed several books dealing with practical and theoretical issues of urban development in a European and in a global perspective (Strategic City, Planners for the XXIst Century (2008), Enacting Urban Renewal in France (2005)...). He is also the author of numerous articles for academic and professional's reviews, about urban development, urban regeneration, city management, or territorial cohesion.

A regular speaker at international urban development conferences (Nanjing, World Urban Forum IV : Harmonious Cities, (2008), Johannesburg, Planning Africa Conference: Shaping the Future (2008), Tokyo, International Building Stock Activation Conference (2007)...), he is also an expert for UN-Habitat and other European and international programmes. He has founded and directed a consultancy and urban R&D agency in Paris, Renaissance Urbaine (2006).

He is committed to support the enhancement of professional planning networks as a strategic and sustainable response to the global urban growth. A member of several professional networks in Europe and worldwide (DASL, INTA, CFDU, SFU...), he also actively contributes to the development of the Global Planners Network (GPN).

Nicolas Buchoud is graduated in Chinese History (Paris I La Sorbonne, MA), Public Law and Political Science (Sciences Po Paris, MA), and Planning and Urban Development (Sciences Po Paris, MA).

nicolas.buchoud@iledefrance.fr
nbuchoud@yahoo.fr

Main Partners and Supporters, with special thanks to ISTED

